"WELCOME HOME"

The next meeting of the Veterans Housing committee will be held on May 1, when the members will sit around a table, surveying the Emergency Housing survey that was carried out through the Veterans Service office assisted by representatives of the three local veterans organizations and they will ask themselves again what can be done to meet the urgent needs of the returned servicemen and women who ask only for the opportunity to rent, build, or buy an adequate and healthful home for themselves and their dependents at a price that they can pay.

So far the committee has been floundering for a workable plan, and by workable, they are thinking from the standpoint of the community as well as from that of the veteran, as the prospects of each affects the future of the other. It is not so strange that after only two organized meetings, the veterans dream of a home is still a dream. The strange thing is that the town of Andover has been so slow in considering an attack on the problem, but now that the consideration is underway, the optimism of the veteran once more pushes its way through darkness of his unfulfilled hopes and the thoughts that carried him through battle, repeat themselves, "My country, my town, my home are worth all this."

Most of them, in spite of the fact that the "gimme" philosophy of the minority stands out stronger, because it is the louder, are not expecting a Christmas tree with the town dressed up in Santa Claus array. They are not even expecting miracles. They have been facing for several months now, the high prices and the shortages with which those on the home front were already familiar. They know that there are many obstacles to surmount, but they have been places where you couldn't let obstacles stump you—or else—and they managed to save the country from that "or else."

They are now faced, and have been faced since their return, with one of the gravest shortages affecting their way of life—the shortage of homes. They are not the only citizens faced with the housing problem, but they represent a staggering proportion.

This week the Veterans Service Office reported a total of 237 returns from veterans of the emergency housing survey. Not all of them are cases of immediate emergency, but statements of their present housing accommodations run like this:

- "Living in basement with wife and small baby",
- "Three families living in one family house",
- "Living in half a garage",
- "Living with wife and baby in 2 rooms (2 cases)",
- "Living with wife, 4-year-old daughter and small baby in one room",
- "Four people in two rooms (2 such cases)",
- "Two families sharing summer camp—no heat",
- "Four families in one-family house",
- "Living in a trailer",
- "Living in a two-room camp with wife and baby".

These are only a few of the hardship cases and there are other families, with children involved, about to be evicted, who have no prospects of a home to which they may go.

About 23 veterans have listed under $30 a month as their ability to pay, but over 100 are classified between $30 and $45, and 38 are listed between $50 and $100 per month. Seventy-two indicate a preference to rent; 24 to buy; and 56 to build. Others have not specified a choice or have checked a combination of choices.

The problem is, of course, nationwide, and its solution lies in the close co-operation of individuals, communities, the state and the nation. Other towns, some smaller and less prosperous than Andover have made progressive steps toward minimizing the problem. Andover has its committee. Now it needs ACTION!

RETIREMENT YEARS TO BE DEVOTED TO LITERARY PURSUITS

Bishop Henry W. Hobson,
President of the Board of Trustees of Phillips Academy,
Andover, Massachusetts

My dear Bishop Hobson,

Ever since the close of the war I have wished to retire from my present position as Headmaster of Phillips Academy in order to devote myself to literary pursuits. The question of proper timing, however, has not until recently been quite clear in my mind. I am aware that, in June, 1948, I shall have completed forty years of connection with the school and fifteen years as its administrative head. That would, therefore, seem a fitting moment for my withdrawal from activities which, although richly rewarding, have been becoming more and more arduous and also detrimental to my other ambitions. Furthermore, this early announcement will give the Trustees a considerable period for considering carefully the choice of my successor. With much regret but with the consciousness that I am acting wisely, I respectfully request the Trustees to permit me to resign as Headmaster, on and as of July 1, 1948. I leave it to them to decide when and in what manner the announcement shall be made. I can only add that I shall always look back on my association with friends on the Board as one of the happiest experiences of my life.

(Signed) CLAUDE M. FUESS

The Trustees of Phillips Academy announced this week the forthcoming retirement of Dr. Claude Moore Fuess, Headmaster of Andover since 1933, to take effect in June, 1948. Dr. Fuess will have completed at that time 40 years of service to Phillips Academy.

In reply to his letter of April 19, announcing his retirement, Dr. Fuess received the following statement from the Board of Trustees, dated April 22:

"Few positions in life offer so rich an opportunity of service to an American as the headship of a great school whose influence is nation-wide. When he accepted the headmastership of Phillips Academy in 1933 Claude Fuess gave up a distinguished career as a teacher and writer to grapple with the tasks of school administration. It is not surprising that he should feel that in 1948, after forty years' of service to his school and fifteen years as its headmaster, he ought to be free to turn again to the field of historical scholarship in which he earlier had won laurels. He has asked the Board of Trustees to be allowed to retire as of July 1, 1948. In the intervening period he will devote himself not only to the administration of the school, but to a campaign to secure for it more substantial financial resources.

The Trustees find difficult to convey to Dr. Fuess and to the Alumni the depth of their appreciation for his services through a period marked by a great depression and the greatest of wars. At a time when so many Americans found it hard to see our international relations in true perspective, he early saw their long run implications and did much to bring these home to the boys in his charge and to the larger public.

"Much of his work has been concerned with devising a curriculum and a set of teaching procedures that would provide, within a school of 700 boys, full attention to the needs of the individual. His insistence that teaching must be done in small groups and by men of high quality is a guidepost to sound learning which is of special importance today, when so many of our great educational institutions are swamped by numbers. At the same time he provided the most comprehensive health program and facilities in any secondary school.

"It was not surprising that, as an historian and biographer, he emphasized the importance of history as the best core for four years of secondary education. The famous course in American History which is required of all Andover seniors has powerfully shaped the thinking of thousands of Andover graduates. Dr. Fuess's leadership in the field of secondary education has long been recognized in Great Britain as well as in America, and has recently been crowned by his election as President of the Headmasters' Association.

"Dr. Fuess, like all educational administrators, should be judged by the quality of the teaching staff he has selected. Here his reputation is secure. He has provided Phillips academy with a faculty which is the envy of other schools and of many colleges as well.

"Leadership in so exacting a post makes heavy demands. Men are probably wise to lay down the reins before their powers wane. The Trustees extend to Dr. Fuess their appreciation of his long and distinguished services and with affection convey their best wishes for many years of happiness and fruitful literary pursuits."

James Phinney Baxter, 3d, for the Board

Claude Moore Fuess joined the faculty of Phillips academy in 1908 as a member of the English department. Born in Waterville, N. Y., he is a graduate of Amherst college in the class of 1905, was awarded his A.M. at Columbia in 1906 and his Ph.D. at the same university in 1912.

Widely known as an educator and historian, Dr. Fuess has received honorary degrees from Amherst, Columbia, Yale, Princeton, Williams and Tufts. After twenty-five years of service as an instructor in Phillips academy, he was elected its headmaster in 1933.

During his long career at Andover, Dr. Fuess has continued his active interest in American history, and has contributed extensively to the field of American biography. While possibly his best-known work is his definitive biography, "Calvin Coolidge, the Man from Vermont," his biographies of Caleb Cushing, Rufus Choate, Daniel Webster and Carl Schurz are regarded as authorities. His latest work in this field is "Mr. Webster and I," published in 1944.

Dr. Fuess served in the Quartermaster Corps of the U. S. Army in World War I, and was discharged with the rank of major late in 1918, to resume his work at Andover. For many years he was editor of the "Phillips Bulletin" and director of the Alumni fund. He served as executive secretary of the building and endowment fund in 1920 and in a similar capacity at the celebration of Phillips academy's sesquicentennial in 1928, when Calvin Coolidge, then President of the United States, delivered the principal address.

In addition to being the author of these distinguished American biographies, Dr. Fuess, as official historian of Phillips academy, has written of its history in "An Old New England School," "Phillips Academy, Andover, in the Great War (1919)" and "Men of Andover." He served as chairman of the Town of Andover Tercentenary committee in 1946, when he welcomed the mayor and mayoress of Andover, England, to the celebration.

As an educator, he is a member of and custodian of the executive committee of the College Entrance Examination Board, member of the Massachusetts Board of Collegiate Authority and chairman of the Education Committee of the English-Speaking Union. On February 14 this year he was elected president of the Headmasters' Association at its national conference in Rye, N. Y.

Dr. Fuess is a golfer of no mean prowess, whose skill as a member of the faculty golf team has more than once caused members of the student team to look to their laurels. In fact, he is one of the few, and possibly the only one of such distinction in his profession who can point to the achievement of having made four holes-in-one.

In 1911 he married Elizabeth Cushing Goodhue of Andover, who died July 26, 1943. Their son, John Cushing Fuess, is now in the employ of the State Department. On December 15, 1945, Dr. Fuess married Mrs. Lulie A. Blackfan of Brookline.

Miss Jackson's Bridal Party Harmonizes Delicate Spring Shades

Against a background of white snapdragons and lilies, the double ring ceremony of Miss Barbara Bradley Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Harold Jackson of 54 Maple avenue, and Robert Frances Foster of 40 Washington avenue, son of Albert Foster of Methuen, took place in St. Augustine's church Saturday afternoon, April 12. Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., officiated and Rev. Charles F. Hart, O.S.A., of St. Mary's parish, Lawrence, was seated in the sanctuary. Bernice Gaffney, cousin of the groom, sang "Mother At Thy Feet Is Kneeling," and Frank McCarthy of Andover sang "Just For Today."

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Harold Jackson, the bride wore a white point d'esprit gown over satin, styled with an illusion neckline and tiered skirt graduating to a court train. Her full length veil was of French illusion and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Winifred Bulger of North Andover was the matron of honor and her gown was of yellow, self-ruffled net, hoop skirted, with which she wore a matching picture hat and a shower bouquet of blue sweet peas. The maid of honor, Miss Arlene Flynn, wore a similar gown of blue with matching picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of yellow marguerites and pink and blue sweet peas.

Miss Anna White of Andover and Miss Daisy Foster, sister of the groom, were the bridesmaids, and their gowns were a repetition of those worn by the honor attendants in mile green. They wore matching dutch caps and carried shower bouquets.

The bridegroom's brother, Rene Foster, was the best man and the ushers were Dr. Edward C. Bulger, Walter Hynes, and Gordon Boddy.

Mrs. Foster wore a gray suit with pink flowered hat and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Square and Compass club at which a buffet luncheon was served. The couple then left on a wedding trip to Canada. They will reside for the present at 54 Maple avenue.

Mrs. Jackson is employed as a secretary at the Tyer Rubber Company and the bridegroom is a veterinarian's assistant to Dr. Edward Bulger.

Miss Trow Wed at Candlelight Service

A pretty candlelight service in the West church Saturday evening with the bridal party wearing all white and the church effectively banked with white stock, united in marriage Miss Charlotte Bowse Trow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Trow of 31 Lowell street, to Earl Albert Young, son of Mrs. Ida L. O'Connell and the late Robert Young. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Newman Matthews, pastor emeritus, and Rev. John G. Gaskill.

Owing to the illness of the bride's father, Arthur L. Gardner, uncle of the bride, escorted her to the altar. She was attended by Mrs. Frederick Baldwin of Foxboro as matron of honor and Miss Jean Shubert of Andover as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Rhodes, a classmate of the bride at Abbot academy, and Rosemary Gardner of Wakefield, a cousin. Another cousin, Susan Gardner, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven S. Gardner of Wakefield, was the flower girl.

Edwin P. Green of Boston, friend of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were C. Edmond Gardner and Steven S. Gardner, cousins of the bride, and Frederick Baldwin of Foxboro. The organist was James Watt of Boston, a friend of the bridegroom.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon, fashioned with monk's sleeves, satin bodice trimmed with seed pearls and a long flowing train of chiffon. Her veil was of imported illusion, chapel length, with tucked cap and coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses with a shower of sweet peas.

Wearing identical gowns of white faille with fitted bodices, low cut necklines, puff sleeves and full skirts of crinoline, the attendants carried old fashioned bouquets in harmonizing shades and wore matching wreaths in their hair.

The matron of honor's was of pink roses, sweet peas and carnations, and was tied with a pink ribbon. The maid of honor carried red roses, sweet peas and white carnations tied with a blue ribbon, and the bridesmaids' bouquets were of yellow and lavender sweet peas with orchid ribbons.

The flower girl wore a floor length white organdy gown in Kate Greenaway style, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses tied with pink ribbon.

A reception in the church vestry followed the ceremony, with the mothers of the bridal couple, the matron of honor and the best man assisting in the receiving line. The bride's mother wore a poudre blue crepe gown with matching hat and a white orchid corsage with a purple center. The bridegroom's mother wore aqua crepe with a white flowered hat and a lavender orchid corsage.

The couple left on a wedding trip to New York City. The bride wore a traveling ensemble of light blue with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Young is a graduate of Abbot academy and the Garland school. Mr. Young served with the Army Air Corps during World War II. They will make their home at 31 Lowell street upon their return.

Miss Daly Is Lovely Bride In All-White Ceremony

At a pretty all-white ceremony at 4:30 Saturday afternoon in St. Augustine's rectory, Miss Josephine Patrice Daly, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jeremiah James Daly of 10 Chestnut street, became the bride of Russell Munroe Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Lawson of 24 Wolcott avenue. Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a heavy ivory satin gown, period style, en train, and a full length veil caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white stephanotis with an orchid center.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Philip F. Doyle, Jr., as matron of honor, and her two nieces, Lyn Doyle and Barbara Daly, were flower girls. Leonard Farnsworth Perkins of North Andover was best man.

Mrs. Doyle's svelte white gown was fashioned with a modified bustle, with which she wore mitts of the same material. Her bouquet was of stephanotis, and she wore an ivory wreath in her hair. The flower girls wore similar gowns of white bouffant dotted ninon, and carried nosegays. Both wore ivory wreaths.

The bride's mother wore a dove grey gown with a white flowered hat and a corsage of camellias. The bridegroom's mother wore a rose gown with flowered hat in harmony and a white corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception and dinner was held in Andover Inn with about 150 guests in attendance. Friends and relatives of the couple then gathered at the home of the bride's parents on Chestnut street, from where the bride and bridegroom left on an extended honeymoon. They will make their new home in Sanford, Maine, where Mr. Lawson is associated with Goodall-Sanford, Inc. The bride's traveling costume was of electric blue, with which she wore a mink scarf and white accessories.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Puncard High school. The former Miss Daly received her A.B. degree from Emmanuel college and attended Kathryn Gibbs graduate school, Boston. Mr. Lawson graduated from Lowell Textile school and served for four years in the U. S. Army. He retired as captain in the quartermaster corps.

WILSON—FESSENDEN

White stocks, snap-dragons, calla lilies, carnations and potted palms decorated the South Congregational church Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Marjorie Fessenden to George Porter Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Wilson of Pine street, Tewksbury. The 7 o'clock candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Frederick B. Noss. The church organist played the wedding marches.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. William F. Fessenden of Andover and the late William F. Fessenden, was given in marriage by her uncle, Lyman F. Cheever of Concord. Wearing a gown of white duchess satin with a full skirt en train and a sweetheart neckline trimmed with seed pearls, she carried a shower arrangement of white roses, freesia, and baby's breath, centered with a white orchid. Her fingertip veil was attached to a cap trimmed with seed pearls.

Miss Janice Fessenden of North Andover was the maid of honor for her cousin, and wore an old rose satin gown, a tiara of tulle roses and light blue iris, and carried a colonial bouquet of the same. The bride's mother wore an ice blue silk gown and a corsage of pink camellias, and Mrs. Wilson, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in rose silk with a corsage of camellias.

Joseph Duffy of Lawrence was best man for his cousin, and the ushers included William Abbott Cheever of Andover, uncle of the bride, Allan Osterman of Lowell, Roland Fearon of Tewksbury, and Albert White of North Andover.

The reception was held in the church vestry, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to New York City and Washington. They will reside at 72 Park street, Andover.

GALLANT—LOOSIGIAN

A very pretty wedding took place on Sunday afternoon, April 13, at 2:00 in Grace Episcopal church, Lawrence, when Miss Mary Loosigian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ohan Loosigian of Lowell street, became the bride of Hubert J. Gallant of 136 1/2 Union street, Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvian Gallant. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Archie Crowley.

Miss Loosigian was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white bridal gown with a lace bodice, sweetheart neckline and tulle skirt en train. Her veil was fingertip length with a pearl crown. She carried white roses and bouquet with streamers of sweet peas.

Miss Margaret Gabriellian of Worcester was her maid of honor, and her gown was of aqua muslin organdie. She carried red roses and wore a matching tiara of roses in her hair. Little Miss Barbara Duhgerian, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Peter Loosigian, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Asa Asolan, cousin of the bride, Auglan Gallant of Lawrence, Joseph Gallant of Rumford, Me., both brothers of the bridegroom, and Harry Loosigian.

During the service, Mr. Bowes sang "I Love You, Truly" and "Because." Fred Jones was the organist.

The bride's mother wore black crepe with a corsage of red roses, and the bridegroom's mother wore black lace with a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the American Legion hall. The couple left on a wedding trip through the White Mountains, Maine and Vermont, and upon their return will reside at 550 Broadway, Methuen.

Chairman Of Selectmen In Conference With Press

The Townsman representative met with the chairman of the Board of Selectmen Wednesday morning in accordance with last week's statement of policy regarding the publicizing of town news. Mr. Hardy went over recent business brought to the attention of the Board and submitted for inspection the report of the audit of the books and accounts for the year ending December 31, 1946.

APPOINTMENTS

The following appointments have been made for the year 1946: janitor of the town hall, Wilson J. Crawford; public weigher in charge of town scales, Wilson J. Crawford; deputy sealer of weights and measures, Wilson J. Crawford; matron of the town infirmary, Mary C. Edmands; town counsel, Walter C. Tomlinson; civil constable, J. Lewis Smith; building inspector, Ralph W. Coleman; veterans' affairs agent, Francis P. Markey; agent, bureau of old age assistance, Arthur W. Cole; member of board of appeals, three years, Roy E. Hardy; associate member of the board of appeals, Leon A. Field; associate member of the board of appeals, Walter C. Tomlinson; assistant building inspector, Roy E. Hardy; dog officer, George A. Dane.

Public weighers, Guy B. Howe, Benjamin Jaques, Henry Burbine, Alexander MacKenzie, Charles H. Murnane, George Williams, Ralph Baker, Bernard L. McDonald, Vincent P. Hickey, Herbert Auty, Laura Charewicz, Wendell W. Kydd, Timothy Madden, Gordon Coutts, Alex Brown, Glenn Noble, Walter Swenson, Calvin Wingo, Guy B. Howe, Jr., Jerome Cross, Geoffrey Glendinning.

Temporary provisional police: John Campbell, George N. Sparks, Eugene R. Zalla, Winthrop K. White.

Special police: Roy E. Hardy, Charles E. Buchan, Bessie Goldsmith, Charles N. Newton, George B. Brown, Montville E. Peck, Frank Hughes, Walter N. Gordon, William J. Snyder, Frank Valentine, Richard O'Brien, John Phillips, Percy Schutt, Albert Buckley, Arnold Orde, Albert Gilman, Frank Quinn, David R. Lawson, J. Everett Collins, Charles F. Emerson, Esther W. Smith, Wilson J. Crawford, Llewellyn D. Pomeroy, Benjamin Babb, Philip A. Cox, William A. Ronan, Henry Todd, George W. Barrett, William G. McDermitt, Needham Brown, Alex Ness, John Ashton, Thomas McDuffie, Arthur Hurst, Carl Stevens, August Wirtz, Howell F. Shepard, Edward P. Hall, E. Burke Thornton, William Hennessey, Frederick W. Gould, Archibald MacLaren, Robert Williams, Fred L. Collins, Stafford A. Lindsay, Jesse E. West, Arthur Hoffman, William Harrison, Henry Rose, Joseph Todd, Frank Connolly, Louis McIntyre, Robert Dobbie, William C. Brown and James Calder.

JOB PREFERENCE

A communication was received from American Legion Post 8, requesting that the Service officer be contacted and informed of any and all vacancies and new positions here in Andover so that a veteran worthy and qualified may be included in the list of those to be considered.

The chairman expressed his intention of replying that the practice mentioned had been adhered to in the past and that the policy would continue.

FARE RAISES

In connection with a communication received from the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company announcing the increase in fares to go into effect on May 4 to cover the increased operating costs, and Mr. Hardy stated that the board would probably recommend that increases should not be made on self-supporting routes, but rather on those not as frequently used.

POLL TAX EXEMPTIONS

A communication from Henry F. Long, commissioner of corporations and taxes, describes the action to be taken by the board of assessors and collector of taxes regarding Chapter 406, which relates to freedom from poll tax during the exist states of war.

"In brief, the assessors must assess every male twenty years of age or over a poll tax. All persons who apply for exemption in writing are to be considered, and if they qualify, exemption is to be given. Requests for exemptions must be filed with the assessors on or before October 1, showing the qualifications of the applicants."

Forms for veterans' exemptions may be obtained from the town clerk's office.

NEW COUNSEL

The Massachusetts Selectmen's association announced the appointment of Jonathan W. French of Braintree as legislative counsel of the organization.

SCHOOL AID FUND

The amount to be received by the town of Andover under the proposed School Aid Fund, using 1946 figures as a basis for computation, is $19,625, as compared to the amount of $11,986 received in 1945, according to a report of the special recess commission on education matters. According to Mr. Hardy's investigation of the matter, the increased amount would not compare favorably with the money which Andover would pay out if the sales tax supporting the program were to be adopted. He pointed out that some towns will receive even less under the plan, while others will receive considerably more. He pointed out such cases as Arlington, now receiving $48,712, which stands to receive $289,965.

A Pint Of Blood....

When you donate a pint of your blood you receive a blood registration card which is really a blood credit card. This credit card is good for one year, and when presented at any hospital, entitles you and your immediate family to whatever blood and blood products may be necessary in time of emergency.

"NO FRANTIC CALLS AND DEMANDS ON RELATIVES TO COME QUICK AND HELP IN TIME OF TRIAL." Your card takes care of all your worries. You insure your home, your car, why not insure your blood needs?

Lets Book The Bookies

Does anybody know if there are any bookies operating in Andover?

We'd hate to think that there are — and we'd feel even worse if we felt that someone knew that there are bookies and nothing is being done about it. It's an illegal practice, and it is made no more legal by overlooking it. In some cities it is of course "protected" by the police, but in other places it is indirectly "protected" by just allowing it to go on without interference.

In small towns there are usually no regular "bookie joints." Often what happens — and you realize we're not saying this does happen in Andover — is that a few men who may or may not be in business of sorts develop booking bets as a sideline. Usually they're not doing enough of the business that they're listed under to pay their rent or pay their phone bill, and yet they manage to keep on going through outside income — income which definitely needs the phone as an operating medium.

You may even find them hanging around in dimly-lit public corridors — and if you happen to pass by at the right time, you may see some children, 11 to 17 or so, come running in with money to them, either betting themselves or acting as messengers for somebody else.

It's not a nice condition, of course. We certainly hope it isn't happening in Andover. If it is, we certainly hope also that the town officials will take prompt and drastic steps to eliminate the bookie trade here.

This Sober Town

A Shorted Story

Some day—so we are told—there will be more 'phone circuits to Lawrence. Won't that be something?

It's worst between 9:30 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. You call a Lawrence number, and pretty soon the operator tells you she's sorry, but all the circuits to Lawrence are busy.

With the shortages and all, you can forgive the delay very readily, but what gets us are the terrific sound effects that seem to be part of the process of finding out that all the circuits are busy. It reminds us only of a phonograph running backwards, playing Bach, and using a 12-pronged wire rake for a needle. And it always seems as if when one circuit is scratchingly busy, all of them turn out to be busy, so that you have to run the whole gamut of scraping short circuits.

Now we want to be constructive about this. We know as soon as equipment is available, we will get additional circuits; the only thing to correct is that awful noise. Here's our suggestion:

Assume there are nine circuits between here and Lawrence. Now when they're busy, you get nine awful scratches. Instead, why can't a little gadget be fixed up that will produce the following conversation as the operator tries each circuit:

Circuit 1: (in a deep, sonorous, foghorny, Lifebuoyish voice): "B-Y, B-Y, B-Y."

Circuit 2: "I'm so sorry, I'm busy."

Circuit 3: "I'm busy, too."

Circuit 4: "Me, too."

Circuit 5: "Looks like it's d----d near unanimous."

Circuit 6: "Now, don't go getting hot under the collar; we can't help it."

Circuit 7: "Circuit 8 and I are having a drink of Ballantine's— isn't this system on three-ring circuits?"

Circuit 8: "Hick!"

Circuit 9: "Brother, you can't win; why don't you call back. Better luck next time."

The Broken Record

Dauntless Direct Leseyla, registered Holstein-Friesian in the dairy herd of John Bolten, Lowell street, has a production record hard to beat of 708 pounds of butterfat and 17,138 pounds of milk in 365 days. Testing was supervised by Massachusetts State college, in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, and the record, which is nearly four times the production of the average dairy cow, was made when Dauntless had passed her fourth birthday by nine months.

Dauntless bears out her name in the race to beat food shortages, and her only comment on her outstanding national record is "You can crop down crops, but you can't freeze a Friesian!"

On Committee

Richard K. Gordon, student in the senior class at Suffolk University School of Law, was elected to the executive committee of his class at a recent election of officers.

SCENIC?

BALLARDVALE RESIDENTS are becoming impatient because their nuisance charge against the Sand and Gravel company operating in their community has not received any action. Chairman of the Board of Selectmen Roy Hardy reports that communications and personal contacts from the board, collectively and individually, with the master, Louis O'Keefe, appointed to report the facts to the Superior court have so far been unanswered. Efforts made by the attorney for the community on the case have also been ineffectual. In the meantime, the noise and the dust continue.

ANDOVER DOCTORS ENDORSE CIVILIAN BLOOD DONOR PROGRAM

The physicians of Andover heartily endorse the program of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, working through the American Red Cross: "to obtain voluntary contribution of blood for preparation in the State Laboratories of whole blood and components of blood plasma."

These preparations will be of immediate benefit to our own community, allowing free use of life-saving blood fractions otherwise obtainable only at prohibitive cost.

Your contribution will help save a life.

A-Peeling Belles

The dramatic department of the Shawsheen Village Woman's club is turning from horror to humor in its dramatic presentation, "The Belles of the Gay Nineties," which will have a two-night run in the Shawsheen school hall, May 1 and 2, curtain at 8:00 both nights.

Those who recall chilling to last season's hair-raiser, "Spider Island," will be glad to warm to the gayety of this year's comedy, which will repeat some of the same cast and have other well-chosen additions.

Mrs. Wallace Fiedler will play the part of Mrs. Boudierfield, a widow with four daughters: Agnes, called "Senga," Mrs. William G. Thompson; Lydia, the practical one, Mrs. Walter C. Wilson, Jr.; Millicent, the youngest, Mrs. Leslie S. Joliffe; and Katie Greenhouse, the oldest, who has five children of her own, Mrs. Philip A. Costello. Other roles will be played as follows Mrs. Fisher, the seamstress, Mrs. Walter C. Caswell; Alicia North, a friend of the family, Mrs. G. Edgar Best; Bridget, the cook, Mrs. Joseph A. Mulvey; Julia, the maid, Mrs. Locke; three of Katie's children: Georgie, David Best; Buddy, William Edwards; Jackie, Teddy Dwyer.

The play is being directed and coached by Mrs. William R. Edwards, with Mrs. Philip A. Costello as general manager in charge. Mrs. Wilfred T. Dwyer is chairman of the ticket committee which includes Mrs. Ernest M. Rapa, Mrs. Cornelius T. Driscoll, Mrs. Carleton E. Shulze, and Mrs. Alphonse J. Caliri.

Stage manager and chairman of properties is Mrs. Irvin Wilkinson, assisted by Mrs. Edward P. Dean and Mrs. Arthur E. Steinert. Mrs. Leon A. Field, Mrs. Edwin L. Bramley and Mrs. James J. Fagiano are on the program committee, and Mrs. Edward J. O'Donnell, chairman, Mrs. Justin L. Rex and Mrs. Frank J. Kefferstan represent the costume committee. Mrs. Hiram R. Young is prompter and director's assistant; Mrs. John B. Guild, make-up; Mrs. Herbert L. Ortstein, publicity; and coiffures will be by Mae Brown.

Turnabout

One of the best stories of the war, and one most illustrative of the reason why we won the war, is told by Captain Samuel Eliot Morison in "Operations in North African Waters," first volume to be issued of his comprehensive history of United States naval operations in World War II.

In the battle of Casablanca, the U. S. S. Wilkes (DD 441) was screening the Brooklyn and the Augusta in their fight with the French cruiser Primauguet and a group of French destroyers.

The officer at the engine room telephone of the Wilkes heard loud reports, and there was a call for more speed.

"What's going on up there?" he inquired.

"Enemy cruiser chasing us," was the reply.

Before long he was almost thrown off his feet by a sudden change of course, and even more speed was called for.

"What's going on now?" he asked.

"We're chasing the cruiser."

Ballet Russe

The revised program to be given by the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo at George Washington hall, Thursday evening, May 1, is as follows:

Les Sylphides, based on music by Chopin with complete scenic effects and costumes executed by Maheieu. Nathalie Krassovska and Leon Daniellian will take the leading roles.

The second ballet, "Rodeo," with choreography by Agnes de Mille and music by Aaron Copeland.

The closing ballet will be the ever-popular "Gaité Parisienne," with music by Offenbach and a large cast starring Alexandra Danilova and Frederic Franklin.

The remaining tickets for this event are on sale in the ticket office at Phillips academy.

Fair and Stunts

On Friday evening, May 2, at 6:45 o'clock, the Young People's Fair and Stunt Night will be held in the South church vestry. There will be tables for selling toys, dolls, sporting goods, knicknacks, grabs, jewelry, books, comic magazines, stamps, clothing, ice cream. These articles are being donated from the surplus in the attics, discarded as no longer of use in one home, but of great value in some other. Contributions are asked for as soon as possible, that the committee may arrange them for sale.

Stunts and skits will be put on by the various groups, with prizes for the best and second best. The adults will share in a quiz. Lollypops for everyone taking part.

Families and friends are invited, and a wonderful time is anticipated. Plan to come early and have your dessert of ice cream in the vestry. Tickets will be on sale at the door for those who have not purchased them.

Circus and Variety

On Saturday, May 17, for the benefit of their scholarship fund, the Merrimack Valley Wheaton club are sponsoring the Mary Dean Puppets in two afternoon performances of "Circus and Variety" at the November club. Mary Dean's Continental Theater is one of two puppet theaters in this country, and she has had nineteen years' experience as an actor, producer and teacher in the art of puppetry. Her puppets are hand puppets, manipulated from below the stage level on the hand and arm of the puppeteer, and the puppet stagehands change scenes and props in sight of the audience, as they have done for centuries in the market-places and public squares of mediaeval Europe. The acts are accompanied by music recorded mostly in Europe and the Orient.

Candy will be sold before the performances which will be at 2 and 3:30 p. m. Tickets may be obtained from members of the club, those living in Andover being Mrs. J. J. Tavern, Mrs. John Colby, Mrs. F. Tyler Carlton, Miss Barbara Loomer, Miss Ruth Whitehill, Mrs. Cyril Sargent, Mrs. Donald H. Savage and Mrs. Cleveland Gilcrest.

Stuffed Animal Show

The Brownies of Troops 40 and 41 held a stuffed animal show last Thursday afternoon at their regular meeting. Every Brownie brought a stuffed animal to enter in the show. The first prize in Troop 40 was awarded to Mary Oliver, for her white wooly lamb with a music box inside. Cynthia Dantos and Jane Taylor received honorable mention.

First-prize winner in Troop 41 was Delight Wilson, who entered a yellow Easter bunny. Honorable mention went to Carol Ann DesRocher.

Troop 23

At the meeting held Thursday evening the Free church plans were discussed for the overnight camping trip to be held on May 14th and 15th at Stiles Lake in West Boxford.

The girls worked on knots for their Campcraft badge, and practiced songs and marching.

Brownie Troop 44

Brownie Troop 44 of the Shaw-sheen school held its investiture ceremony last Thursday in the school hall with the mothers, Girl Scout troop 18 and the school teachers as invited guests. A short pantomime play of the Brownie story was presented with Nancy Page Perkins as reader.

In the cast were: Grandmother, Jane Henrick; Grandfather, Jane McKinery; Mary, Donna Dickson; Timmy, Betsey Caswell; Brown owl, Suzanne Winters.

The awarding of the pins followed with the brownies being lead singly around the magic pool by the leader, Mrs. Herbert L. Orstein and assistant leader, Mrs. David J. Perkins.

Flags Presented

The Shawsheen Village Womens Club of Andover has presented a Girl Scout American Flag and Brownie Flag to the newly organized Girl Scout troop 18 and Brownie troop 44 of Shawsheen.

RED CROSS TO RECRUIT MORE GRAY LADIES

The veterans at Bedford hospital need your help. The Andover chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked to recruit additional members of the Gray Ladies and Arts and Skills corps to meet the tremendous demands for the services of these women.

Gray Ladies aid the veterans in many ways, such as delivering gifts, reading to the patients, arranging flowers, providing and supervising amusements. Women who can play the piano are especially needed. Arts and skills workers serve by assisting the patients with handicraft work. Women who are interested in this line of assistance but who do not feel qualified to teach may act as apprentices while they themselves learn how to teach.

A course will be given at Bedford hospital in May. Screening tests for the workers will be held from May 1 to May 3. These tests are given to all people working at the hospital. At that time, the applicants will make an appointment to talk with the psychologist some time between May 5 and May 10. The actual courses will be held on May 14 and 15.

Any women interested in this form of assistance to our veterans are asked to contact Mrs. E. Francis Leland, telephone Andover 910, or Mrs. Roscoe E. Dake, Andover 1090. These women have the application blanks and will be glad to give additional information about the work.

LORE AND LURE OF OLD HOUSES

The "lure of an old house" may not attract many who long for a bright, new, shiny home, but the program of the Andover Historical society offers a pleasant hour to those who have "restorations" in mind. This coming Saturday evening, April 26, J. Radford Abbot will address the members of this society and interested guests at the Historical House, 97 Main street. There will be opportunity for questions and answers.

Some of the good points of Andover's early houses will be recalled—thus answering occasional questions brought up by "Historic Houses in Andover," recently published. Eight o'clock is the time. A social hour will follow Mr. Abbot's talk.

NATURAL HISTORY

A boy at school, when asked to describe a kitten, said:

"A kitten is a little muddle of fur that rushes like mad at nothing whatever—and stops before it gets there."

The Bloodmobile And What It Means To The Community And Its Citizens

What It Is

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, through the cooperation of local Red Cross Chapters, is carrying on a Civilian Blood Donor program which makes life saving plasma, its valuable fractions and eventually whole blood available free of charge to each and every person in the towns where the Red Cross chapters are willing to share the responsibility.

The State Public Health Department provides the Mobile Unit, including the necessary technical equipment, and the professional staff of a doctor and nurses.

The local Red Cross must provide a place for the clinic, the non-technical equipment, a volunteer staff, coffee and crackers for each donor and food for the professional and volunteer staff serving at meal time. Also to make the program available to Andover residents, the local Red Cross must recruit 125 donors! May 7 is the day. The South church is the place. Enroll now with the Andover Red Cross.

How It May Help You

In case of accident or illness, this program could mean the difference between life and death to you or a member of your family, and will certainly mean a difference in money if you require plasma, fractions or eventually whole blood. Right now if you required the services of a professional donor, it would cost $25. All of this is free to you who volunteer to donate when the unit is in Andover.

An additional advantage, if you are a donor, is the complete typing record which the state gives of your individual blood, including the typing of the Rh factor, now proving so vital in certain pregnancy cases.

How You May Help Support It

If Andover does not meet its quota, the plan will not be available to Andover residents. A call to Andover 1496 will register you as a volunteer donor. On Wednesday, May 7, you arrive at the South church at the appointed time. (The Red Cross will provide transportation if it is requested.) Your name and health record are placed on file. Your temperature and pulse are recorded. A trained technician tests and types your blood. A Red Cross Nurse's Aide conducts you to a cot where thoroughly experienced trained nurses take you in charge. Novocaine is used so you feel no discomfort. After you have given your blood, a light lunch is provided by the Red Cross Canteen Unit. The whole procedure takes less than half an hour of your time and you have insured the blood needs of yourself and your immediate family next year as well as help Andover to share in the benefits of the Civilian Blood Donor program.

Why Blood Is Important

There is no substitute for human blood. In cases of severe hemorrhage, whole blood transfusions are life saving. Whole blood will keep only about 21 days. If it is separated into plasma and red cells, the plasma may be stored dry until needed. Plasma is the staple emergency agent for the prevention of shock.

Plasma may be fractionated. Imagine the plasma as a whole "pie." Amazingly, one half the "pie" can be used as effectively as the whole, for the treatment of shock and burns, and, of course, as it is smaller, it can be stored more easily in the hospital or the doctor's bag.

The other half of our "pie" is cut into several pieces. One is called immune globulin, a big name, but it does a big job. It is used to prevent or modify measles and infectious jaundice. It is four times as effective as any other treatment than can be used. Your children can be assured of adequate protection if you give your blood.

Another piece of the plasma "pie" is the blood-grouping globulins. These are used to test your blood type. It has proven superior to all other testing materials. Still another fraction can be whipped up like a meringue and used to stop hemorrhage in surgery or after a tooth extraction. Two other fractions are used, one in brain surgery and another to control the bleeding of hemophiliacs. And the possibilities are not yet exhausted! Truly, as Goethe has Mephistopheles explain to Faust, "Blood is a juice of rarest quality."

Volunteer now by calling Andover 1496 for an appointment. Give a pint of blood. Insure yourself and your family for the next year and help the community to share in the benefits of the Civilian Blood Donor program.

History of Marine Division

A board has been convened by the Commandant of the Marine Corps to publish a history of the Second Marine Division for free distribution to all personnel who were members of the division between January 4, 1942 and September 2, 1945.

In order to prepare the distribution list and to obtain certain other information, all such former members should submit to the Second
Marine Division History Board, Room 2120, Headquarters, U. S.
Marine Corps, Washington 25, D. C.,
the following information:

- 1) Name, rank, serial number,
- 2) Present address,
- 3) Inclusive dates of his service with the Division.
- 4) Unit within the Division to which he was attached,
- 5) Specific incidents or actions which he believes should be included in the history when published.

The request for information came from Col. D. M. Shoup of the U. S.
Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.,
to the Veterans' Service Office, which is co-operating in the effort to make the history of the Second Division complete.

P.T.A. COUNCIL MEETING

Mrs. Katherine A. Baldwin spoke to the P. T. A. Council on Monday evening on the subject of "State Aid to Education." Following her informative talk, which was the result of extensive study of the program, Mrs. Milton C.

the State's testimony to our ability and worthiness to includes the safekeeping of certain powerful drugs, nar-

Girls' Volley Ball

The popular and very strong Golds won the volley ball tournament on Thursday, April 17. The Reds and Greens ended in a tie, leaving the Blues in the hole with last place. On Tuesday, April 22, a game was played between the Greens and Reds for second place. The victorious Golds will be awarded five points toward the color team cup. The winning team on Tuesday was the Greens, which received three points toward the cup, while the losers received two points.

Baseball Season

Last Friday, the candidates for the baseball team were informed by Coach Dimlich that baseball practice would start Monday, April 21. But since our typical New England weather brought us a snowstorm, that hindered all chances to practice. As soon as the weather allows, there will be practice.

AT JUNIOR HIGH...

By Raymond Collins

Assembly

On Friday, April 18, Room 8 presented the assembly program. For their first number a recitation of "Paul Revere's Ride" was given by several students in that room, in connection with Patriots' Day. The next feature was a pantomime entitled, "And the Lamp Went Out." The narrator was Patricia Peterkin. Others taking part were Jane Galley, Thomas Wilkinson, Betty Wilson, and Walter Tomlinson. As an added attraction Barbara Gibson played a very fine piano solo. Harold Wood was the master of ceremonies.

Weekly Assembly

The regular weekly assembly will be held on Thursday, and will be under the direction of Miss Angelo's dramatic club. It will be a one-act play.

Ninth Grade Meeting

Once again the ninth grade held a class meeting to discuss plans for the annual prom and other topics on the agenda. It was finally decided after some debate that one dance card would be issued and would be given to the boys to fill out. Several students were appointed from each home room to see that cupcakes for refreshments and flowers for decorations were brought in at the time of the prom. Two boys volunteered to get pine shrubs for wall decorating. During the week following vacation a meeting of the ninth grade boys will be held with Mr. Blanchard and Mr. McDonald to talk over matters pertaining to the prom. The girls will meet with Miss Stevens for the same purpose.

At this same meeting the class was told that upon returning to school after vacation special exams would be held all day on Monday and Tuesday, May 5 and 6.

Returned to School

Rita Seigny has returned to school after a long absence caused by a very serious burn on her foot.

Janet Hulse, who had been absent also, due to a serious back burn, returned to school for one week, but returned to the Lawrence General hospital, where she is having skin grafted on her back. This process sometimes takes several weeks.

A Unique Vocation

In view of the fact that the Mobile Blood Unit is coming to town on May 7, Mrs. Milton C. Blanchard spoke to the Junior and Senior High schools on Tuesday during a combined assembly, on the subject, 'A Unique Vocation.' Mrs. Blanchard spoke about the great service one renders his country and his fellow man in general when he donates his blood for use in cases of emergency. She also showed pictures illustrating the processes through which the blood goes from the time it is taken from the donor until it is injected into the system of the person requiring it. It was a most informative assembly, made doubly so by the fact that Mrs. Blanchard worked on this project during the war in the Harvard Research Laboratory. The assembly was sponsored by Miss Ruth Westcott, the school nurse.

Mrs. Blanchard stressed the fact that this work was done by chemists during the war as well as at the present time, and that the work of a chemist is an excellent vocation for which young folks may train.

AT ABBOT . . .

Birthday Bazaar

The approaching Abbot Birthday Bazaar is the focal point of much activity among students and the faculty group as well, as preparations go forward toward the day when the Abbot Circle will display the gaiety and allure characteristic of outdoor fairs. The gates will open at 2:30 and remain open until 6 o'clock. The profits will go principally to the World Student Service Fund, which is Abbot's chief concern throughout the year in the field of charitable endeavors. There are other projects of a community character, however, which are among the beneficiaries of the Abbot Bazaar.

Local merchants and those of Boston who have long supported the bazaar are giving their co-operation again this year. There is to be an especially interesting booth representing the United Nations. The flower booth will have many bedding plants, and some garden equipment and tools to offer. As usual, the tea room will give an attractive seating for groups of friends to enjoy a social hour together.

The customary advertisement which has been distributed widely offers the following invitation:

O, bring your friends and come and see

Us here at Abbot on May three. Visit exhibits, games, and a show —

Yet, as you play, you still will know

How every penny that you spend Will help to prove yourself a friend

To those who need your warm support

Across the sea where war has brought

Hard times to many whom we can "lift"

By adding to profits which make up a GIFT.

Miss Louise Coffin of the Abbot faculty is the general chairman. Her committee is made up from the student body as well as other faculty members.

Cum Laude Candidates

Monday morning's chapel service was especially notable, for it was the day for announcing the names of those seniors in the class of '47 who are eligible to become members of the National Cum Laude Society as an honor won through the maintenance of high scholarship throughout, and award for extraordinary academic attainment. Those thus recognized are:

Emily Jane Brown, Keene, New Hampshire; Barboura Coleman Flues, Fremont, Ohio; Emily Gierasch, Andover; Corallie Hanly, Norfolk, Virginia; Sally Monroe Humason, Sarasota, Florida, and New Canaan, Conn.; Margaret Gage Kimball, Andover; Mildred Doris Kreis, Litchfield, Conn.; Elizabeth Ann Mitchell, Millburn, N.J.; Jean Ritchey, Darien, Conn.; Susanne Robbins, Swampscott, Mass.; Carolyn Sackett, Larchmont, N. Y.; Geraldine Treadway, Stockbridge, Mass.; Christine Windisch von Goeben, Greenwich, Conn.; Marion Elizabeth White, Andover.

The announcement was made by Miss Alice Sweeney, acting principal of the school in the absence of Miss Hearsey, now on leave of absence. On May 17, the school will be addressed by Mrs. Wilma A. Kerby-Miller, dean of instruction, Radcliffe college, as the Cum Laude lecturer.

Vespers

Sunday vespers will be in charge of the Abbot Christian association, at which time the students will conduct the program.

If you need money temporarily for expansion, our officers are always glad to talk over your business needs with you.

AT PUNCHARD...

By Jack Sherman

Driving Course

The Parent-Teacher-association-sponsored driving course has officially finished. Those who had not yet received their licenses went to Lawrence last Tuesday and took their tests. This course has taught Punchard students the safety rules and correct operating procedure on the road. Great thanks are due to Mrs. Walter Mondale and Mrs. Joseph Dahle of the P. T. A. who gave so generously of their time.

Gym Exhibit

Friday evening will be the occasion for a gymnastic exhibition by the Punchard and Junior High school gym teams. The show will feature all types of gymnastic feats and work on all of the apparatus. There will also be the living statuary which has been one of the outstanding features of previous shows. The performance will be in the Memorial auditorium.

Vacations

Well, what d'ya know? It's time for another vacation. This will be the last one of the school year, with only a few more weeks to go until summer time. Of course, there is the unhappy thought that marks close this Friday, too, but what's a little thing like that compared to a week's freedom? Classes will resume again May 5.

Visitor

Mr. Claude L. Allen, Jr., headmaster of Hebron academy, visited the guidance department at Punchard last Wednesday. Several former Punchard boys are now attending Hebron, and more have been admitted for next year.

Dean's Meeting

Mrs. Emma Carter, dean of girls, left last Wednesday afternoon for a meeting of the Massachusetts Deans' association in Framingham. She was accompanied by Miss Catherine Sweeney of the Junior High.

Assembly

Last Tuesday, the Punchard students were privileged to hear Mrs. Milton C. Blanchard talk on the subject of blood. Mrs. Blanchard worked in the Research Department of the Harvard University Medical school, and has been working on blood plasma. Her talk was illustrated by colored slides, and by demonstrations of products made from human blood. She also told of her education, and how she happened to be connected with this work.

Punchard students witnessed a remarkable demonstration of black light and other scientific phenomena last Thursday, in a joint assembly with the Junior High school. Mr. Harry C. White was the speaker.

English Department

The English department of the Junior and Senior High school at their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday, entertained at tea the English department of Johnson High school, North Andover, and Mr. James J. O'Brien, superintendent of schools.

Milton Blanchard Resigns Post Of Jr. High Principal

The resignation of Milton C. Blanchard as principal of the Junior high school was read at the School Committee meeting Tuesday night and accepted with regret. Mr. Blanchard was appointed to the Junior High school staff in 1936 as general science teacher and first served as principal of the school in 1941, succeeding Kenneth L. Sherman. In June 1942, he resigned his position to enter the service, and returned to the principalship in November, 1945. His resignation becomes effective in June of this year and he has expressed a willingness to assist or cooperate with his successor during the summer and afterwards. He will assume his new duties as superintendent of schools in Charlestown, R. I. in the fall.

March 9 was set as the date of the annual Lincoln Spelling match and the Parent Teachers association was granted to install for experimental purposes ultra-violet ray lights in one or two rooms of the Samuel Jackson school. The lighting system is designed to kill respiratory germs in the air and in several of the communities in which it has already been tried, it has been found that the number of colds have been reduced over 50%. The installation of the lights is pending the approval of the state medical officer. The organization is financing the experiment which will be of no expense to the town.

During the discussion of the matter of filling the Junior High school principalship and the possibility of combining the high and junior high school principalships, it was voted that the chair appoint a committee of five to investigate the situation in all its aspects and to report to the board at a future meeting. Rev. John S. Moses will head the committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Partridge, Gordon Colquhoun, Mrs. Katherine A. Baldwin and Miss Barbara A. Loomer.

The warrant of bills and accounts in the amount of $754.53 was approved.

Survey Systems

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the question of a survey of the entire school system with Cyril Sargent of the Harvard Graduate school of Education presenting his views on the various types of surveys from his experience in survey of public schools in other communities. A mathematics teacher at Phillips academy, Mr. Sargent is now on leave of absence while studying for his Ph. D. degree at Harvard where he is also teaching. He brought with him several reports made by Dr. Simpson and his staff at Harvard and left them with the committee for further study.

He described three types of surveys. The first and most comprehensive type is made by specialists in the field who spend several weeks in the community being surveyed and then withdraw to make their report. He pointed out that the success of this type depends upon the follow-through of the school committee and the community. He also described a participatory survey in which a group of 25 or more citizens make the study with the experts acting as consultants. A third type is a combination of the two in which the experts submit their report and offer recommendations.

At a future committee meeting it is hoped that Mrs. David Blaney, chairman of the Weston school board which has carried out the participatory survey, will be present to speak to the group.

Obituaries

MRS. ALFRED RICHARD

A solemn high Mass of requiem was offered in St. Augustine's church Wednesday morning for Mrs. Angeline (Bernard) Richard of Boston road who died Monday after a long illness.

Born in Prince Edward Island, Canada, she came to Andover about 40 years ago. She was a member of the Heart Sodality of St. Augustine's church.

She is survived by her husband, Alfred Richard; five sons, Wilfred, Francis, Harold, George and William; five daughters, Mrs. Leslie Springer of Plymouth, Mrs. George Keyes of Vesta, N. Y., Lorraine, Mildred and Ella; two brothers, George and Sylvan Bernard and three grandchildren.

Services were held from the M. A. Burke funeral home and burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery.

LEONARD SAUNDERS

The funeral of Leonard Saunders of 61 high street, who died last Tuesday, was held Friday afternoon in the Free Congregational church with Rev. J. Levering Reynolds, Jr. officiating. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery.

A delegation of police officers headed by Chief George A. Dane, former associates of the retired police sergeant, were present at the services as well as a delegation from Andover Lodge of Odd Fellows.

The bearers were: Walter Young, Harry Clough, Harry Chadwick, Arthur Jackson, John Deyermund and George H. Burridge.

JANIS E. SHAW

The funeral of Janis E. Shaw, seven-month-old daughter of Clarence and Margaret (Benson) Shaw of 13 Marland avenue, Ballardvale, was held from the late home Saturday afternoon. Rev. Arnold Kenseth, pastor of the Union Congregational church, officiated.

Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery, and the bearers were: William Benson, John Thompson, James Cunningham and William Vannett.

Cancer Drive Quota Only One Quarter Filled

The treasurer of the Greater Lawrence American Cancer Society drive, Edwin C. Murphy, recently announced that the contributions received from Andover as of April 17 totaled $502, which is only one-quarter of the quota that is Andover's share in the nationwide struggle to conquer cancer through education, research and providing hospital facilities for treatment and cure.

Contributions may be sent directly to Mr. Murphy at the Arlington Trust company or to Andover's chairman, Miss Elizabeth Buchan, 3 Lincoln street. Donations may also be left with James Christie at the tax collector's office, with Mrs. Ruth Hitchings at the Veterans' Service office or at The Townsman Press.

Although the program of the American Cancer society is nationwide in scope, a comparatively high percentage of the funds derived from the annual campaign are concentrated in Massachusetts. From September 1, 1945, to December 31, 1946, the Society spent $228,902.31 in 75 grants within the Commonwealth.

Progress in combatting cancer has been made because the skill and tireless energy of pioneers in medicine have been matched by the financial support of laymen of vision. One cannot succeed without the other.

Cancer attacks on a full-time basis, and it will be controlled only on a full-time basis.

No gift is too large or too small to take its place in the support of the American Cancer society.

Garden Club Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Andover Garden club will be held at Andover Inn, Tuesday, May 6. There will be a plant sale at 10, followed by the meeting at 11. At 12, pictures will be shown of members' gardens. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock.

Reservations should be made by Saturday, May 3, with Mrs. James Downs, telephone 1098.

Horticulturists

On next Monday, April 28, a meeting of horticultural chairmen will be held in Horticultural hall; Boston, at 10:30 a. m. The speaker will be Miss Dorothea Harrison, associate county horticulturist, who will have as her subject, "The Best Annuals and Perennials for Color Effect in the Garden." Garden club members are invited to attend.

Teachers' Club

The Andover Teachers' club is the first local group to actively cooperate with the Massachusetts State Department of Public Health and the American Red Cross in the Civilian Blood Donor program. After hearing the Andover Red Cross representative, Mrs. Milton C. Blanchard, explain the details of the program at Wednesday night's meeting 25% of the members made appointments to donate blood at the South church, May 7.

GAMBLERS, ALL

The manager heard that the clerk had a car, and asked him how he could afford it with four children.

"O, that's easy," said the clerk. "There are 500 of us employed at this factory. I raffle my wages every week at a dollar a chance."

GARDEN CLUB NOTES

Dr. Donald Wyman will conduct a field class at the Arnold Arboretum for those who wish to gain more information regarding New England flowers, trees and shrubs, on Saturdays during May, beginning May 3 from 10:00 to 12:00 noon. The fee is $1.00. Address all inquiries to Dr. Donald Wyman at the Arnold Arboretum.

NEW INSTRUCTOR

Phillips academy last week announced the appointment of Wilfred Freeman, formerly an instructor at the Choate school, as a member of Andover's English department. After four years of service with the Royal Air Force, during which time he was posted in the Mediterranean, Mr. Freeman, who is English by birth, came to this country after the war to rest.

CONTEST WINNERS

Donald L. M. Blackmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan R. Blackmer of 215 Main street, was winner of the first prize of $20 in the annual Means Essay contest, with the title of 'Rue Matelot.' The Means Essay prizes have been awarded annually without interruption since 1868. The second prize of $10 was awarded to Roland F. Wille of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Why FARES MUST BE INCREASED...

OPERATING EXPENSES20% HIGHER than last year, and increasing.

INCOMEnow more than 2% LOWER than last year, and decreasing.

PAYROLLSaveraging $40,000 a week HIGHER than last year.

LOSSESof $43,791 were sustained in January and February . . . compared to a profit of $293,601 (before taxes) in the same period of 1946.

MILEAGE OPERATEDis UP 12.5% (to give you wider and better service)

INCOME PER MILEis DOWN 12.5%

Rapidly rising costs and decreasing income prove that we cannot continue to provide adequate service on fares which have not been increased since 1920. We want our riders to have new and modern buses . . . and to give them more and better service.

As our entire income is derived from fares, we must ask the riding public to share our added burdens. We hope you will appreciate our position. We ask your support and cooperation.

We announce reluctantly that

A MODERATE FARE INCREASE BECOMES EFFECTIVE SUNDAY, MAY 4, 1947

(Details will be published in your local newspapers)

Story Hour

On Tuesday morning, April 29, 10:00 o'clock, there will be a vacation story hour held at the Memorial Hall library. All children, regardless of age or school grade, are invited to be present. No tickets are required.

With Pictures

The three, four and five-year-old listeners are invited to a picture-book story hour at the Memorial Hall library on Wednesday morning, at 10:00 o'clock, April 30. These young people are asked to bring their mothers with them.

Open Meeting

A second open meeting, this time on the subject of our Good Neighbor Policy, is being prepared, and will be held in the Memorial Hall library early in May. Further notice will be given at a later date.

Among the new books recently added to the Memorial Hall Library are the following, any of which may be reserved for home reading:

The Left Hand Is the Dreamer

Ross

Set against the varying backgrounds of Vienna, New York City, New Mexico, and mainly upper New York State is this story of a woman to whom the separation of war brought an awareness that her marriage had been a gradually dissolving tie. There is a maturity to the writing that places this above the average of the post-war novels.

Mrs. Mike

Freedman

A love story of a young Boston girl and Sergeant Mike, a Canadian Mountie, who is priest, doctor and magistrate to all in the great wilderness. Those to whom such books as "Happy the Land" and "Wilderness Life" were a pleasure will find Mrs. Mike and her husband delightful characters.

The Quarry

Walker

The story of Lyman Converse, born too near the days of the Civil War to be allowed to enlist, through the days of World War I, in which his son takes a part. Here is a friendship with Easy, a runaway slave their closely knit boyhood; his later life with Louisa, in their Vermont home, and the thread of his love for the woman he cannot marry.

Gentlemen's Agreement

Hobson

Phil Green came to New York as a staff writer for a great liberal weekly, and with his first assignment was catapulted into a study of anti-Semitism that changed his thinking and his entire life.

The Angelic Avengers

Andreszel

Two English girls found themselves in a situation filled with evil people and events as this story of a period long ago unfolds its plot in a sinister, melodramatic novel. Readers of "Rebecca" and "The Uninvited" will enjoy this.

Puppet Theatre Handbook

Batchelder

A thorough encyclopedia of the technical knowledge of many puppeteers and writers on the puppet theatre. The book was developed originally as information for use of American soldiers who used puppetry as recreation in posts and hospitals. Covers construction of the puppets, manipulation, costuming, scenery, lighting, etc. Illustrated with sixty-nine full-page drawings and diagrams.

The Modern Attack on Tuberculosis

Chadwick

A revised edition of a well-known handbook which includes new material about recent developments in administration, practice and the techniques of control. Health officials, physicians, public health nurses and others concerned with community welfare will find this a timely discussion.

The New Fibers

Sherman

Nylon, Vinyon, Fiberglass, Aralac, Saran, Velon, Ardil, etc.—new names in the field of textiles, all described from their earliest development through the manufacturing processes, with a discussion of their applications.

Small Town

Hicks

This is a must book for any city person who dreams of living in a small town. Here are the people he will find, the things which he will be expected to do, and the experiences he may expect.

OUR COVER

Jack Sherman, Stunt Night make-up man and the Townsman's Punchard Correspondent, listens with one ear to the front stage hilarity while he busily transforms Vera Hagopian into the male lead for the pantomime, "I Had A Little Husband," while Anthony Clinton looks on.

The desperado in the inset is Anne Marie McKay, who appeared in the opening skit, "Watch Your Diaphragm."

Senior Class Revue Reviewed From Behind The Scene

Confusion reigned backstage in the Memorial auditorium last Friday night as the senior class revue or stunt night was readying itself for production. The first members of the production crew arrived about 6:15, and members of the cast wandered in soon afterwards. The make-up room, very recently Miss Collins' office, was jammed with girls waiting to have their faces painted for the first number, a skit called "Watch Your Diaphragm." The make-up crew, busy as the proverbial one-armed paper hanger, rubbed grease into faces in job lots and then all too soon Miss Fox, senior class advisor and general producer of the show, called for silence. The backstage bedlam quieted down to a gentle hub-bub, with the members of the cast muttering in false bravado, "The people in the audience are my parents and my friends. I will not be afraid." Herbert Peterson, light man, put the house lights out, the foots on. The spots focused on the center of the curtain, and Carol Davies, narrator, could be heard swinging into her welcoming speech.

It must have been a good show. The acts followed each other in swift succession, the changes of scenery and personnel smoothly managed with no hitches to speak of. The laughter of the audience drifted back to spur on the crew, and rumors that the auditorium was jammed to capacity, that folks were trying to buy tickets that were all sold out, that even the standing room was being used, were happy indications that the senior class would realize a tremendous profit.

It was soon intermission, and then time to convert Punchardites into languishing Spaniards for the "Spanish Romance" number. When the finale came, all of the class crowded onto the stage and sang "The Punchard Ode" and "America, the Beautiful," but the finale was not the end for the production staff. The actors were clamoring for cold cream to remove their incognito, and the scenery had to be struck before the weary crew could call it a night.

Will Head Building Drive For Maine University

The University of Maine alumni of Merrimac will meet here Saturday, April 26, opening this area's part of a nation-wide campaign to finance a Union building at the University. William P. Hamblet of 62 Chestnut street, a member of the class of '31, is the Merrimac area chairman.

The drive will continue until June, when it is hoped that the $900,000 necessary to build and equip the Union building will be raised.

Maine's Union building will fill a long-standing need for a campus center offering recreational facilities, lounges for faculty, alumni, and students, a cafeteria and meeting rooms for students' organizations. The structure will be a memorial to the Maine students and graduates who gave their lives in World War II.

Boy Scout Notes

Troop 76—Ballardvale

The troop met in the firehouse on Thursday evening, April 17. Acting Scout Executive Nestor A. Eno of the North Essex Council visited with the scouts and gave a short talk on scout activities. The next meeting is a re-registration meeting on Thursday, April 24. Plans were discussed for a paper drive during school vacation week, and for a camping trip to Prospect Hill on April 25, 26, and 27. Present at the meeting were Scout Executive Eno, Scoutmaster P. W. Moody, Neighborhood Commissioner Arnold Schofield, and Troop Committeemen Edward Lefebvre, George G. Brown, Leon Thompson, and Rev. Arnold Kenseth. Scouts Clifford Lawrence, Russell Thompson, Alfred Duke, Roland Joy, Richard Stevens, John Gillis, Fred Buckley, William Shaw, Murray Abbott, Kerwin Donovan, Alston O'Hara, and David MacFarlane.

Pack 71—Shawsheen School

Cubmaster Henry Bellevue met with the Cubs at 9:00 a. m. Saturday, April 19, at the Shawsheen school and went on a picnic hike to Haggett's Pond area. Cubmaster Bellevue was assisted by Second Class Scout Scott Gerrish, den chief of den 2. Those present were Billy Dunlavy, Billy Gens, Paul Archambault, Paul Dunlavy, and Bobby Banister of Den 1; Bobby Vaughn, Allan Vaughn, John Mitchell, and Julian Baer of Den 2; Henry Bellevue of Den 3; Bobby Blomquist, Billy Bird, and John Killilea of Den 4. Capture the Flag, O'Leary Says, and other games were played. On the same day Den 3, under the leadership of Second Class Scout Walter Tomlinson, den chief, went on a bicycle hike. The following Den 3 cubs attended: George Henrick, Francis Henrick, Raymond Groleau, Richard Finnerty, Tony Costello, and Charles Giovinco. The Den visited the Lawrence airport and had an enjoyable day on the hike.

Troop 71—Shawsheen School

The Bear Patrol hiked to West Andover on Saturday, April 19. Scouts taking the hike were Patrol Leader Everett MacAskill, Jr., Assistant Patrol Leader Jimmie Baillie, Troop Quartermaster Peter Caswell, Arthur Botsch, and Louis Fiedler. The Wolf Patrol held a patrol meeting at the home of Patrol Leader Jack Caswell on Wednesday evening, April 16. Scouts present were Assistant Patrol Leader Tommy Wilkinson, Scott Gerrish, Louis Hamilton, Louis Mirisola, and Billy McKay. Plans were set in motion for a paper drive to raise money to buy patrol equipment. The drive will be held during school vacation. The troop met in the Scout room of the Shawsheen school on Monday evening, April 21 under the direction of Scoutmaster Everett MacAskill. Jimmie Baillie, assistant patrol leader of the Bear patrol, was presented the Second Class badge, and David Wilkinson, also of the Bear patrol, was presented the Tenderfoot badge. Scouts Louis Hamilton and William McKay of the Wolf patrol passed Second Class, and David McCarthy of the Flying Eagle patrol passed Second Class. The troop will not meet on Monday, April 28, but will meet Monday, May 5. The instruction for the evening was in judging and signaling. District Commissioner Caswell was present at the meeting, and talked to the troop.

League to Hold Annual Meeting, Adopt Local and State Agenda

The annual meeting of the League of Women Voters will be held at 12:45, Tuesday, May 8, at the home of Mrs. D. K. Webster, Sunset Rock road. Mrs. Moses Lurie, president of the Massachusetts League, will be the guest speaker and will present a review of the National League Council meeting.

Election of officers and the adoption of the budget and of a local agenda for next year's program will be taken up. Dues for next year will be payable to Mrs. Byron Smith, recently appointed to serve as treasurer to fill out the term of Mrs. John Halford, Jr. who moved out of town.

Members are requested to bring a box luncheon and coffee and dessert will be served.

New state by-laws will be adopted at the Massachusetts League Convention to be held in Worcester on May 13 and 14.

Mrs. A. G. Baldwin will attend the National Council meeting in Washington, D. C. She is on the State League ballot for next year as first vice president and Mrs. John Barss is on the ballot as a member of the State League nominating committee.

H. R. 2616

Because of an unprecedented number of communications to the national office from members of the League all over the country indicating a serious concern that the action proposed under H. R. 2616 should not weaken the United Nations and undermine the principle of collective security, Miss Anna Lord Strauss, president of the League of Women Voters of the U. S., made a testimony before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs this month which follows in part.

"The conditions in the middle east which constitute a threat to the peace are a concern of all the United Nations—not just one. Because the United Nations is not yet equipped with agencies or funds for such purposes, the greater part of the funds and personnel for dealing with the problem must come for the time being from the United States if anything is to be done. This nation is certainly not alone in feeling that peace and stability in Greece and Turkey are essential to its own security.

"As a means of achieving collective responsibility for dealing with this problem, the League recommends that there be an amendment to this bill similar in principle to the one offered by Senator Vandenberg in the Senate. Under such an amendment the President would be authorized to withdraw aid to Greece and Turkey if the General Assembly or the Security Council voted to request him to do so, or if he found that the purposes we are seeking had been accomplished either by ourselves or by an intergovernmental agency. In the case of such a question being brought before the Security Council, the United States would waive its rights to a veto. In this way we could be certain that our activities in these countries are at all times subject to the scrutiny of our fellow members of the United Nations and that they can vote to halt our activities if they feel them to be detrimental to peace rather than helpful. This proposal makes it possible to carry out the plans which have been made for giving aid to these countries, and at the same time gives added responsibility and prestige to the United Nations.

Dr. Coryell Speaks On Atomic Energy

Describing the only defense against the atomic bomb as "absence of war," Dr. Charles D. Coryell spoke to a combined group of members of the Andover League of Women Voters and the Phillips club on Tuesday night in Peabody house. While working on the bomb during the war at Oak Ridge, Tenn., where "theoretical physics was at its best," Dr. Coryell said that the feeling was widespread among the scientists that they had a real mission to the world, as soon as they could talk about it, to bring their years of background and thought to the people so that they could have a knowledge of the implications of atomic energy to civilization and could better appreciate the necessity for world control.

He was introduced to the audience by Mrs. Harold Rafton, president of the League, and James Gould, president of the Phillips club, who said that nothing short of atomic energy could have succeeded in bringing to life again the Phillips club which had undergone a long period of inactivity.

What's on my mind today? The same thing that's probably on every housewife's... spring cleaning! But I'm not going to let it get me down, and I hope you won't let it get you down either. That's why I want to share some of my pet labor-saving ideas with you. Try them and see if they don't make it easy to take it easy!

BEANS FOR THE BUSY

When I'm up to my ears in pails and mops (as who isn't these days?), I'm more grateful than ever for A&P's ready-to-eat ANN PAGE BEANS. They're simply delicious just the way they come out of the can... and extra-tasty fixed like this: Fill a casserole with 3 1-lb. cans of ANN PAGE BEANS with pork and tomato sauce (enough for 6 generous servings); top with slices of ham or bacon, and then bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven, 350° F.

HOUSE CLEANING HINTS

To remove watermarks from a waxed finish, take off old wax with liquid wax; apply a fresh coat. To mildew-proof awnings and shower curtains, soak them in very soapy water and, without rinsing, dip them in a solution of copper

Dr. Coryell went on to say that in the study and production of the bomb, money was no object, that timing was the important factor, and that it had been hoped that the bomb would be completed before the end of the war with Germany, as it was thought that Germany would be more susceptible to its implications. It was inspiring, he said, to see the magnificent co-operation of industry, science and engineering that existed, and paid such big dividends.

He briefly went over the technical process of the production of atomic energy beginning with the discovery of radioactivity in 1896 through the final completion of the atomic bomb. He said that the use of the bomb saved time and lives, but that it wasn't consistent with American morality and long range security.

In discussing the plans for control of atomic energy, he recommended the Baruch plan and stated that in his opinion an air-tight world inspection system would be technically feasible since the time and process involved in the production of the bomb can not be easily kept under cover, although the bomb, when completed, can be secretly stored.

He described the United Nations sulphate, which you can get at the drug store.

TEA FOR THE TIRED

Doesn't a cup of tea do wonders for you when you're weary? It does for me... especially when it's full of really invigorating flavor. That's why I always use OUR OWN, NECTAR or MAYFAIR TEAS from the A&P. They're all Flavor Tested, so no matter which you choose, you can be sure you're hitching your tea wagon to a star!

as "no better than the League of Nations", and he commended the state of Massachusetts in their vote regarding a limited world government. He said that national sovereignty was over-emphasized. "What sovereignty did we have," he asked, "on December 7?"

In the question period that followed his talk, Dr. Coryell said that we are only on the threshold of the atomic age, and it is too soon to state the advantages to be derived from the discovery. The addition to scientific knowledge alone, however, he said, make it worth the millions spent. The prospects of sending rockets to the moon are no longer fantastic, and the availability of compact power to be used in isolated places, in industry, in shipping, has tremendous possibilities.

Childrens Hospital Drive Has Enthusiastic Local Response Of Workers And Contributors

Mrs. William T. Rich, Jr., General Chairman of the Children's Hospital campaign for funds in Andover, announces that the drive is well under way and that the response to date has been encouraging. The many Andover people who appreciate what the Children's Hospital has set out to do for the protection of our children's health but who have not yet made their contribution to the fund are urged to do so as soon as possible. Gifts may be mailed to Mrs. Rich, at 57 Central St., or left with Fred Gould at the Andover National Bank or with Stephen Boland at the Andover Post office. The drive closes April 30.

The following have been added to the local committee: Mrs. Douglas Donald, Mrs. James H. Grew, Mrs. Charles B. Hodges, Jr., Mrs. David Thompson, Mrs. Joseph T. Gagne, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. V. W. Odell, Mrs. Philip K. Allen, Mrs. G. G. Benedict, Mrs. James E. Downs, Mrs. Douglas M. Dunbar, Mrs. W. R. Hill, Mrs. Douglas S. Byers, Mrs. Arthur Sweeney, Mrs. Philip T. Hogan, Mrs. Patrick Morgan, Mrs. Wallace E. Brimer, Mrs. Byron Cleveland, Mrs. William S. Hughes, Mrs. J. Edson Anderson, Mrs. Edward C. Nichols, Mrs. David Darling, Mrs. Norman E. Scott, Mrs. Jerome W. Cross, and Mrs. Foster Barnard.

The quota for the entire drive is $10,000,000 and the contributions from all parts of Massachusetts and New England by April 23 had topped $2,250,000.

Child health is not a problem for a few people. It deals with the problem of public health at the source and as such it affects the entire future of the community and the nation. The Medical Center program calls for the construction of new buildings and additional equipment and laboratories for research, provides funds so that the service of the central hospital can be extended to all the component parts.

To make possible medical care and treatment for children throughout New England it is planned to span the area with base hospitals directly connected with the proposed Medical Center in Boston. The network will extend to smaller hospitals in the rural areas and surrounding communities and every hospital in the network will receive the full facilities of all the departments of the Medical Center.

Moreover, to keep well children well, to show how, by measures taken in time, hospital treatment may be avoided is perhaps the most promising and important work of pediatrics. On work in this field the Medical Center will lay special emphasis.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING WEEK

A plea for Bay State teen-agers to consider the public health nursing profession in planning their careers was sounded this week by State Commissioner of public health Dr. Vlado A. Getting.

"Massachusetts has only one public health nurse for every 4000 persons—or 1300 nurses to serve four and one-half million people," he said, adding that wide opportunities in this field are being offered this year's high school graduates.

"Approximately a thousand additional nurses are needed in this state alone," he estimated, revealing that less than 100 communities in the state are able to provide nursing services to their residents.

"Observing 'Public Health Nursing Week' — April 20-26, 1947," continued Dr. Getting, "calls attention to the invaluable services these nurses perform for the public."

"They are indispensable in schools, factories, health department clinics, and in homes where there is illness. They are indispensable in child hygiene, maternity service, venereal disease, tuberculosis control, industrial hygiene and even home and community sanitation programs."

"Public health nurses save thousands of lives and thousands of dollars for the taxpayers by helping families to ward off sickness before it starts and by helping to check the spread of disease in the community."

Forty per cent of Massachusetts' public health nurses are employed by health departments; 25 per cent by school committees or departments of education; 31 per cent by visiting nurse associations; and others by state and official agencies.
